FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1878.

INDIAN HOMESTEADS- ENABLING ACTS.

A dispatch sent by Gen. Howard to Gen. McDowell, published some days ago in THE OREGONIAN, assumed that the law allows Indians to take and hold homesteads on their present reservations. With a view of spreading more general information in regard to Indian homesteads Gen. Howard recently issued two circulars on the subject, embodied in general orders of the department. The first, dated February 8, 1875, recites the act of congress approved March 3, 1875, the sections of the revised statutes applicable, and an extract from a circular issued by the general land office December 1, 1877, relative to manner of procedure to obtain title to public lands by homestead, being the provisions for benefit of the Indians. These provisions are copied in full in the general orders bearing the above date, and permit any Indian born in the United States, who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years, to have, on abandoning his tribal relations, all the benefits of the homestead act of May 20, 1862. This is further confirmed by section 2,302 of the revised statutes, which provides that "no distinction shall be made in the construction or execution of the land laws on account of race or color"

It follows, therefore, that an Indian may apply at the land office in his district the same as a white man or negro to enter his chosen tract for a homestead. The Indian must make application to the register and receiver, must make affidavit, setting forth his Indian character, that he was born in the United States, that he is twenty-one years of age, or the head of a family, and that he has abandoned his tribal relations and adopted the habits and pursuits of civilized life. These statements must be corroborated by the affidavits of two or more disinterested witnesses. In all respects mentioned the Indian can have the same right of homestead as the white man and negro, except that the homestead is "inalienable for five years from the date of the patent issued therefor."

Under the laws the rights of the Indian are placed in his own hands. Congress has opened the way for him, as for the freedman, to secure his own home and hold it. He stands free as the white man in every state and territory, if he will come out of his tribe and into the ranks of citizenship. Government has done for him the same that it has done for the negro. It can do no more. It cannot force him to leave his tribe and take his homestead. But if he will step out of his tribe upon his own homestead, his title to such homestead will rest on the national law. The courts in every district will protect him against disturbance. No change of Indian policy can ever dislodge him. With such opportunities open to his choice, neither he nor his friends should stand whining over his hard lot. He must rouse up, and take this step into the open door of citizenship. He can do it as well as the freedman. No one can do it for him. If he has not seen or does not see it—which is probable—let his friends in every place tell him of it; explain the facts; help him up out of his darkness. We are told that the Clallams, near Dungeness, who bought two hundred acres of land and had it surveyed and allotted in severalty hold their rights in law on the same terms as their white neighbors. So do the Nez Perces at Alpowa. So do several families near Port Orchard, and on South Bay at Puget Sound.

Gen. Howard's second circular was embodied in general orders dated May 20, 1878. It recites treaties between the United States and several tribes and bands of Indians in this department, to the effect that the president may at his discretion cause the whole or any portion of the lands reserved to the Indians to be surveyed into lots and assigned to such individuals or families as may be willing to avail themselves of the privilege and will locate permanent homes; and this applies to all the reservation Indians in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Each Indian, if a single person over twenty-one years of age, may receive one eighth of a section under this policy; each family of two one quarter section; each family of three and not exceeding five one half section; each family of six and not exceeding ten one section, and each family over ten, one quarter section for every additional five members.

These points are legally established, viz: First, the president has long been and now is authorized to have reservation lands surveyed and alloted to Indians or their families,—such lands to be chosen by them—and to issue patents therefor. Second, any counter legislation by the states is void, unless approved by congress. Third, allotments to Indians forfeited by their non-residence shall be assigned by the president to other Indians, not to whites. Fourth, Indian titles to lands on reservations are made inalienable by them. Fifth, the president is authorized to secure to an Indian's family in case of his death, all his rights to the homestead. Sixth, lots assigned to the Clallams, Makahs, Yakimas, Nez Perces, Qui-nai-ells, Qui-leh-utes, Flatheads, Kootenays and Upper Pend d'Oreille tribes are double the number of acres assigned to the Walla Wallas, Cayuses, Umatillas, and the confederated tribes and bands in Middle Oregon and to the Klamaths, Modocs and Snakes. Seventh, the balance of reservation lands may be sold for the benefit of the Indians or reserved for pasturage for them.

For twenty-three years the Indians have had the right to claim their homesteads on the reservations. Many of the surveys and divisions have been made and lots assigned to persons and families, as on the Nez Perce, Umatilla, Yakima, Puyallup and Skokomish reservations. Perhaps no patents have been issued by the president to those Indian farmers and lumbermen according to the provisions of the treaties, for the reason that his attention has not been called to the subject. The agents on the reservations are his appointees, and thus responsible to see that the rights of the Indians under the treaty are made complete.

The Nez Perces, Umatillas, Coeur d'Alenes, Spokanes, Yakimas, Wascos, Puyallups, Skokomish and doubtless others in Oregon, Washington and Idaho eagerly plead for titles to their homesteads like our deeds. A Clallam Indian on the Skokomish said: "I am not going to clear land for white men to own. I will leave the reservation first and take up a place of my own." This is the right spirit. Many Indians will not work for lack of ownership and the motive that incites the white man to work. We cannot blame them. Others say that they will not go to a new reservation and leave all their hard earned improvements. They will fight for their homes and die in defence of their rights. Give them their just titles now and they will become fast friends. Let the president issue the patents in form to the Indian farmers and lumbermen now due under treaty and Indian homesteaders anchored to the soil by their legal titles, will form a strong breastwork against hostile roving bands and become the surety for the peace of the northwest.

Gen. Howard's action aims to hasten this result. Indian agents have power to aid it as no other officials can. Once started, the Indian question will begin to be settled. On this line will be solved the problem that will free us forever from the confusion and expense of the Indian question, by leaving him to work out his destiny alongside of other men.

In the dispatch heretofore printed announcing the refusal of the house to take up and pass that humbug and claptrap measure misnamed a bill to aid the construction of the Northern Pacific railroad the intelligent reader easily recognizes the familiar hand which has directed so many dispatches on this subject during the past seven months for the purpose of giving an erroneous impression concerning it. The dispatch was drawn in such a way as to try to make it appear that the company wanted the bill to pass, and that it was its own fault that it failed. But the fact is, as THE OREGONIAN has all along stated, that the bill in its present form is not supported by the friends of the enterprise; and so far are they from regretting its failure or being disappointed thereat, that the refusal of the house to take it up is the very thing that they desired. It is seen to be an utterly absurd and contemptible thing, and they do not intend to pass it without proper amendment. Well informed people have never had the slightest idea that the vagaries which Mr. Mitchell so strenuously insisted upon could ever be wrought into legislation. Mr. Williams appears to have voted to take it up not because he thought it was a bill that ought to pass, but simply for the reason that it was well not to give those in Oregon who may still be too dull, too uncandid to comprehend the subject a pretext to say that he ever opposed excision of the grant in any form. Because Oregon desires a railroad it doesn't want this bill; and Mr. Mitchell will not return to the senate simply because he has gone against the interests of the country in this great matter.

With great disinterestedness the Standard now insists on reforms in the state printing. It at last admits that the printer has been charging for four times the amount of paper used; but it says this practice must be discontinued. In the heat of its desire for reform in this office it declares that very little printing will be needed anyhow, and that it will be the duty of the Democratic legislature to give the printer as little work as possible. Had the editor of the Standard been elected printer these are utterances that fire wouldn't have melted out of him. One of the sweet uses of not being elected is that it makes men reformers.

Owing to divisions among other parties, the Kearneyites appear to have carried San Francisco on election of members for the state constitutional convention. Now at last will the great reforms proposed by Jack Cade in England ripen to rich fruitage in San Francisco. Now will Kearney fulfill his promise to his fellow kings that seven half-penny loaves shall be sold for a penny, that all the realm shall be in common, that it shall be a felony to drink small beer.

Thayer's majority for governor is about 70. Stiles appears to be elected superintendent of public instruction by from ten to twenty majority. Other results are as heretofore reported.

TRIAL OF D. M. OSBORNE & CO'S

Self-Binding Harvester,

IN BENTON COUNTY.

OAK RIDGE, Benton County, Oregon, June 18th, 1878.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT WE THE UNDERsigned farmers of Benton County, Oregon, witnessed the Trial of one of

SELF-BINDING HARVESTERS,

On the Farm of Charles Thompson.

The Machine was operated in HEAVY, GREEN OATS, and it did BETTER WORK than we ever saw done by hand.

It CUTS CLEAN and BINDS GOOD, and FILLS THE BILL EVERY TIME.

The Machine was drawn by Two Horses.

CITY.

TACOMA COAL FOR GAS.—From the Tacoma Herald the following is clipped: "About 60 tons of not coal was sent from the Tacoma colliery to the Portland Gas Company a short time since that they might make a test of its merits for their use. The officers of the railroad company at this place received notice that a thorough trial of the coal has been made and the result is very satisfactory to all interested. For several months the mines of Portland was illuminated with gas made from Tacoma coal, and the people and the gas company were alike satisfied with the result, and we understand the company will at once arrangements to use the coal exclusively as soon as it can be supplied. In this trial it was demonstrated that Tacoma coal produces gas of a quality superior to that made from Australian coal which is now the staple gas coal of this coast, and this secures for it the market of the Pacific coast for gas making purposes. It has been known by those who were familiar with the Tacoma coal that it possessed the requisite qualities for the production of gas, and the prospect of securing the precedence in this branch of the coal trade has been counted upon by the company, but this endorsement of its merits by the gas company of Portland places it at once upon the market as a superior article and secures a demand for it as soon as the mines will be in a condition to yield a supply.

HON. J. MOBAN.—We are informed that there is a prospect of the young Pennsylvania orator and champion of the working men, Mr. Hugh J. Moban, who is now in California, paying a visit to this state soon. From the Sacramento Sun of a recent date we clip the following paragraph: "No one contributed more to the success of the Workingmen's ticket in the late municipal election in this city than the young Pennsylvania orator, Hugh J. Moban. He spoke at nearly all the meetings, and there were many of them. From a well stored mind he is always able to draw materials for argument and illustration, and with a good voice, pleasing presence and happy manner, holds his auditors to the close. His ablest effort was at the open air mass meeting, held in front of the Golden Eagle and Capital hotels, when for an hour and a half he held a multitude spell bound, and for a while a cold and piercing wind that even drove the ladies at both hotels cence out on the opposite balconies in a body to hear him, and not one deserted her position until the close of his entertaining and eloquent address. Mr. Moban has been only a year in the state, but notwithstanding has already a host of friends."

LITTLE JESSIE'S DEATH.—Jessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Marshall, died in this city yesterday morning. By her amiable qualities she had won many friends, even in a brief life of a little over seven years. Her parents' hearts were bound up in her, and to their love and care have gone out in all the fullness of parental affection. Only those whose cup of sorrow has been filled by similar bereavement can know the depth of their grief as they realize that pattering feet and prattling voice will greet them no more in all the long years of the future of this life. But she leaves nought behind her but the most precious memories, which her parents and friends will ever keep till they meet in the bright hereafter, where there is no more death.

HE TOOK A HORSE.—Sheriff Gray of Canyon City arrived in this city yesterday evening, having in custody a man named James Shea. This individual took a halter to which, unfortunately, a horse was attached. The court could not be led to regard such conduct as wholly free from censure, and Shea got three years' board at the expense of the state. He very sturally concludes that such a rigorous enforcement of the statutes of this beloved land is well calculated to discourage honest pursuits and paralyze the industries of the country. Officer and prisoner will go up this morning to Salem.

THE OLD HERO OF CHERUBTEPEC.—General Joseph Lane, Mexican hero and veteran, ex-delegate to congress, and ex governor of Oregon territory, ex U. S. senator, as well as indomitable fighter of considerable note, is in this city and gave our office a call yesterday. He is looking quite hale and hearty for a man of his great age and bids fair to live a good while yet. He is on a visit to see his son, Mr. Nat. H. Lane, of East Portland, who is lying very seriously ill with Bright's disease of the kidneys.

CHAPEL—EXHIBITION ROOM.—The building recently removed on the block occupied by St. Michael's College will be fitted up and used for a chapel and exhibition room for the use of college pupils. It is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by the third of July, at which time the exhibitory services will be performed and an exhibition given by the students of St. Michael's College.

AN INSANE PATIENT.—Sheriff Dart, of Columbia county, arrived in this city Wednesday evening, having in charge an insane woman named Howard. The unfortunate woman was conveyed to the asylum at once. Her insanity is not of a violent type, and it is hoped she will soon regain her reason by careful and proper attention.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The Congregational Association of Oregon and Washington Territory met at Oregon City, June 5, 1878, at 10 o'clock A. M., and was called to order by Rev. D. B. Gray, pastor of the church of the place.

On calling the roll, ten ministers and twenty three delegates, representing eleven churches, were found to be present, whereupon a permanent organization was effected by the election of Prest. Asa L. Anderson, of the University of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Scribe, and Rev. M. Eells, of Skokomish, as Treas.

The association was regularly opened by reading of the Scripture lesson, the singing of a hymn, and prayer by the moderator.

The churches of White River, Colfax and Day Island, all of them in Washington territory, and of which three constitute the annual meeting, by vote be come connected with the association.

The question having arisen in regard to changing the time of the meeting, on motion it was voted not to do so.

The association then listened to remarks from Rev. E. V. Blakeslee and Rev. E. P. Baker, who brought the salutations of the churches in California. Mr. Blakeslee spoke of the importance of home work as Congregationalists. Mr. Baker on the difficulties of the work there, the need to have of more enthusiasm, and as an aid to this a closer relationship between the churches of Oregon and California. He suggested a newspaper which should fully represent both sections as such a bond. Five persons were invited to sit as corresponding members.

The meeting then adjourned.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

A correspondent writing from Eugene City, under date of the 20th inst., sends the following:

The first exercises of the week were those by the preparatory department under the supervision of Mrs. Spiller and Miss Hazle Bolse, and held in the recitation room, third story of the university, on last evening at 8 o'clock.

One hour before the time had arrived for the exercises to begin, the large and magnificent auditorium was half filled with citizens and visitors and by eight o'clock the hall was crowded to the utmost. It was the occasion of the first exercises ever given in the room, and the expectant manner in which the walls were decorated with swinging festoons and evergreens, the rich carpets of the rostrum and the numerous chandeliers, all added to the pleasure of the occasion. Indeed, the entire adornment of the various characters and persons representing them, but the exercises themselves were excellent and called forth a feeling that they had spent a pleasant evening and enjoyed a rare treat. Particularly deserving of mention was the salutatory song by Miss Bolse's room and the declamation by Master Harlow. The declamations by Masters Herron Johnson and Bolse applied to each other were received with much interest by the audience. The recitation entitled "Drowned" by Miss Anna Dunn, was probably the most successful effort of the evening, and the audience was held spell bound while Miss Peugra, in her clear and lovely voice so forcibly presented her selection. On the last evening will be the exercises in the recitation room and conferring of degrees.

PERSONAL.

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Valley from Rev. T. G. McLeny of Merced California, who is now on a visit to this state for the benefit of his health. Mr. McLeny has been granted a three months' leave of absence, and during that time expects to visit various portions of Oregon.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Attention is called to the special sale to be held this morning at the auction room of Messrs. Gelt & Lessig. A large and splendid assortment of furniture will be sold. Do not miss the chance, splendid bargains can be obtained.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT ST. HELEN'S HALL.

The community interested in the welfare of the young ladies and Portland would be an exceptionally unworthy one if it did not take the greatest interest in that annual day that they have the deep concern in the event which has just taken place at St. Helen's Hall. A hundred years, arrayed in neat and graceful attire, has settled yesterday in the large and cool room in presence of a large number of their friends to take part in the evening exercises of the year and to witness the graduation of their eldest classmates.

The first exercise, as to let us say as nearly in order as may be, was Miss Ellen A. Sapiro's [illegible] considerable [illegible] in that language, and was followed by an oration in English on "The Flowers of Poesy," by the same young lady. The oration was a fine one. Miss Ida Woodward then delivered an oration on "The Science of Speech." Both compositions were interesting and after the one had originated gracefully and well.

Just here let us to those who received the highest honors, besides the diploma, of which more anon. Miss Ellen A. Sapiro received the gold medal for excellence in composition and declamation. Miss Frances C. Burnside, "Ida Harding, Evelyn A. Lewis and Caroline Strong, Electa C. Cornell, Frances C. Burnside, Ida Harding, Evelyn A. Lewis and Caroline Strong.

It is to be hoped that the young ladies who have received honors will continue their studies and be encouraged by the Bishop. It composed seventeen pieces. And it was commendatory particularly was given to Miss Jessie Lemmon, who had completed the highest order and of increasing excellence and efficiency.

We think those who desire here the successful and permanent establishment of such a school for the benefit of the present generation and of those who shall come after it, owe to such continued efforts in that direction a hearty and continuous hearty support and every encouragement in their power.

We can see moreover by our own observation, as we are assured by the testimony of others that the children who have been steadily on in their course without change or interruption, are those that have secured by far the greatest amount of good in every department of study, and in every accomplishment, while those who have come during the year, lose the thread and flow of science, but would do so at a loss and damage that can never be repaired.

I am assured by the principal and her assistants that no special toys of the school has been made in regard to the strange mental and social qualities as regards the general condition and deportment of the pupils. The present one of the school in classroom and in household is worthy of special commendation. Pupils are and others come regularly to the class materials of the school. A few girls where diligence and exactitude never fail to secure excellent marks, are always students, obedient, faithful, sincere and loyal, and establish a tone of spirit that will grow and spread the whole school. While one or two of the opposite disposition, intractable, indifferent, unfaithful, unfeeling, rebellious and unpleasing under the mild restraints of rule and order, insincere and untruthful, will spread a spirit of disorder and discontent that will mar the peace and enjoyment of a whole boarding school. In the first case the good order of these elements secures our pupils, the last year has been one marked in improvement upon some previous years. Of the twenty-three pupils in attendance at the opening of the school at the present time, there have been added to the school during the year, and in addition to the usual studies, Latin, French and German. The number of pupils is considerably larger than for the previous year, although no large as in the year [illegible]. The remaining class is the largest that we have had, and of the five completing it at the beginning of the year, only two have continued the full course of study. Of these Miss Ellen A. Sapiro and Miss Ida Woodward have graduated. With the exception above the last year has been a most happy one in the exhibition of the pupils, and of special encouragement and success that is all engaged in the arrangements. The general health of the boarding pupils has been remarkably good, and except in a few cases and comes indisposition, there has been little occasion for the services of a physician or the use of medicines. This we ascribe to the general healthfulness of the city and to the regular habits of the pupils and their avoidance of late hours, and the excitements at or disruptions that induce so many of the [illegible] last hours of morning girls.

Among the things worthy of note is an improvement in the e tendency to study and amenability to discipline. No pupils remain longer in the school against the advice of the faculty, because the bent of study, and consequently more marked and satisfactory progress. There are more becoming contented with a term of study the work is never [illegible] with new claims, and more and delight in both pupil and teacher mark the days and the duties that were once only a toil and weariness. While it gives us much pleasure to note this general improvement, this is not in some cases still a disposition to change and experiment, that works with disadvantage to all parties. Children are allowed to leave school as the close of the term approaches, or are removed by parents, guardians and masters to come back in many cases after having gained only a loss. Thus a real injury is done to the child, and by so much the effort to weakened to establish a institution of the highest order and of increasing excellence and efficiency.

We think those who desire here the successful and permanent establishment of such a school for the benefit of the present generation and of those who shall come after it, owe to such continued efforts in that direction a hearty and continuous hearty support and every encouragement in their power.

"O, that deceit should dwell
In so fair a gorgeous palace!"

This [illegible] of [illegible] element of character will manifest itself in many ways, but especially in the case of girls and women through their manners, style of dress and writing and conversation, and [illegible] and [illegible] or bolstered and developed or blighted and destroyed. It is the continual aim of [illegible] to cultivate simplicity of manners, without affectation and exaggeration of every sort. To shew modesty, sweetness and truthfulness in the heart and practice of life. Be simple, natural and unaffected. Avoid all pedantic and proud and disdainful airs. They always betray close acquaintance with [illegible] Many daughters have done with money, but these exceed them all. We envy no, at least, that of Bessie Hall has directly or indirectly on this the coast to do well training its daughters.

The music of the choir service was spiritedly rendered, and after conferring the certificates upon the two graduates and the benediction given by the bishop, the sch ol left the chapel as it entered, in procession, sharing another hour, to say their good byes and part for the summer.

The closing is

THE BISHOP'S SPEECH.

We come to the concluding exercises of the ninth year of this school, which but few years ago was a special leader of the event of course. Fourteen years ago, Ten resident teachers have been employed and two additional non-resident teachers of languages. For number of pupils, [illegible] are has been 70. Of these 56 were boarders and 14 day pupils. There have been 69 pupils in attendance during the year in the art department, 25 studying [illegible], 27 French and 12 German. The number of pupils is considerably larger than for the previous year, although not so large as in the year [illegible]. The remaining class is the largest that we have had, and of the five completing it at the beginning of the year, only two have continued the full course of study. Of these Miss Ellen A. Domestic Produce

The market [illegible] [illegible] department has been rather inactive during the [illegible] of the past week except some [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] transactions in wheat have been very light shippers not taking any and millers operating very cautiously [illegible] only as they do not wish the harvest to be [illegible] with any important amount in the way of stocks on hand Offers to sell have been a little more numerous but buyers views are so far below those of holders that transactions are of comparatively rare occurrence But little or nothing is doing in regard to the new crop as about six weeks will elapse before the harvest is fairly begun A few vessels are under charter to load after harvest but nothing new in this line has come to light during the week Flour is in fair supply for the season with some considerable demand from the local trade and but a comparatively light call for shipment abroad Prices in sympathy with the San Francisco market, have declined [illegible] cents per bbl all round as will be seen by quotations elsewhere

Oats are in fair receipt for the time in the season and prices dull either for the home trade or for export Some lots have been offered at 40 cents and no doubt are higher except rarely choice lots for milling purposes which depend on the present wants of buyers Mill feed, bran, etc, are quiet and unchanged with some call for [illegible] Barley is almost entirely [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the coast about 2 cents being the best offer obtainable

Dried fruits are still in fair demand and buyers pay 6@7c per pound quite freely Potatoes are not abundant the demand having somewhat fallen off and the market being dull and quoted nominally at prices ranging all the way from $1 05@1 40 for new to $1 80 per bushel for choice old

Butter can be said of the market for dairy products except that sales of any but choice for the local trade are very difficult to make Bacon is somewhat improved in price at the east, while the San Francisco market is unusually dull and largely overstocked Our home market is well supplied with but little encouragement offered to holders

The wool market remains unchanged, with very large receipts from Eastern Oregon and this valley The reduction of freights by [illegible] route to San Francisco and the prospect of being able to do better there has induced large shipments to that market, and some large holders are investigating the eastern markets hoping to still more improve their sales to manufacturers direct Prices are quite firmly [illegible] here as buyers are quite numerous, but advances on our quotations are generally persistently refused

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT The general tendency of all the markets during the past week has been downward But little has been done here and quotations are given nominally with the wide range of $1 00@1 10 per centa.

FLOUR—Standard extras quotable $ per bbl good country brands, $5 superfine $4 50@4 75 Demand quite active.

OATS—The call is not active or extensive [illegible] quotable at 40@41c per bushel

BARLEY—The receipts which are quite light are all taken for local consumption at $1 40@1 50 per cwt No shipments are being made

MILL FEED—Supply fair bran quotable at $17 50 per ton shorts $18 middlings $20@22 50

POTATOES—We remark a falling off in the receipts and a lessened demand quotations being given at $1 05@1 80 per bushel as per condition qual ity and wants of buyers

HAY—Receipts fair prices range from $9 00@10 per ton for baled timothy and $8@8 50 for loose do

ONIONS—In fair demand for the local trade, and for shipment, quotable at $c per lb for best varieties

BACON—The market is amply supplied for the home demand and prices are steady Quotations are 10@11c F [illegible] sides, 11c for hams, and 7½@8½c for shoulders

LARD—The demand is good and the market firm at 10@12½ cents lb in tins and kegs

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter scarce, 30@32½ ₱ lb prime, 25@30c, choice dairy 20c cheese, quotable at 15@16c ₱ lb Market quiet, dull

EGGS—The demand is fair at 18c per dozen

DR. PALL M. PIERCE,
His Wonderful Success
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
Chronic and Private Diseases
He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skilful Operations.
HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS
public and private lectures the true principles of health at [illegible] to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness
has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and all that appertains thereto Spermatorrhœa Seminal Weakness or premature decay of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he is made a world wide reputant by his wonderful success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the Stomach Bowels Liver and Kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give speedy and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time
THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to alleviate their suffering and restore them to perfect health
THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This saves counts in part for the great professional success
All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result
will send those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers which are to be returned the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will warrant the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and directive Each letter requiring advice or details of questions must contain two postage stamps
Everything strictly confidential and honorable
THE DOCTOR
has studied in the [illegible] Medical Schools in Europe and [illegible] graduate of Jefferson Medical College Philadelphia as a reference to one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State and [illegible]
